Dear Mr. Lehmann:

I am greatly honored that you asked me to serve on the Board of Advisors of Brown University's new publication Common Sense.

As much as I would enjoy serving as a board member, it would be inappropriate so long as I serve in a public office. I am sure that you can understand this position.

Thank you again for the opportunity. I am sorry I am unable to accommodate you, but wish you all the best for the future of your publication.

Sincerely,

/s/ William J. Casey

Dear Mr. Casey,

No doubt you are well aware of the growing trend towards conservatism on the nation's campuses which has led to the creation of many politically conservative college newspapers and magazines. We are proud to announce the birth of the newest such publication, Brown University's Common Sense.

We are asking prominent conservative thinkers throughout the nation to provide support and advice for our fledgling venture. As one of America's foremost conservative leaders, you are in a position to provide the collegiate conservative movement with invaluable assistance.

Common Sense needs your help in order to succeed. We have long admired your work for the conservative cause. Therefore, we ask you to serve as a member of our Board of Advisors. The existence of a well-respected board of advisors will grant Common Sense the legitimacy it requires in order to grow and flourish. Your presence on the Board would give us immeasurable help in reaching our goal.

We request your permission to list your name and title on the masthead of our publication under the heading "Board of Advisors." We would also be very grateful for any comments or advice that you might be willing to offer.

Common Sense will be published bi-monthly, beginning March 15, 1983. You will receive a free lifetime subscription commencing with the premiere issue. We would greatly appreciate a response to our request by then to allow us to include you as a member of the Board of Advisors. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Michael Lehmann
